Police Investigating Vandalism Spree
Sunday November 13, 2011

Duxbury Police are investigating a spree of vandalism that occurred late Sunday evening into early Monday morning. Eight homes in the Fox Run area had mailboxes smashed along with seven homes in the 1,000 block of Tremont Street. The vandals also stole several street signs in the immediate area and two vehicles were broken into on Bayridge Lane.

A police canine was put to work in the area but was not able to locate suspects. We ask that anyone who may have observed a suspicious person or vehicle in that area late Sunday into Monday to call the police. We ask residents to call the police immediately if you see or hear anything suspicious. Your call may enable us to catch a vandal in the act, reducing the chances that others will become victimized.

We also remind residents to lock their car doors overnight. Typically car breaks in this area are crimes of opportunity by mischievous youths who find an unlocked car door. We also strongly urge residents to remove high value items from plain view inside your vehicle like laptops, GPS units or other attractive electronics.
